

Task 1

Scenario 1:

Two workers recently reported contracting COVID-19 at New Jersey Employer ABC. Coworkers are very worried that they are at-risk of contracting COVID-19 and went to the health and safety committee with their concerns. The health and safety committee investigation revealed the following:

1. The main entrance is an open area with people coming and going all day. There are no consistent screening protocols, and the forehead thermometer reads 96 degrees for everyone.
2. The recent staff reduction is causing long wait lines. Throughout the day the reception area goes over posted maximum room occupancy.
3. A large piece of plastic is being used as a room divider with a sign Sick People on one side.
4. The ventilation system is not working properly, so there are portable fans to circulate the air.
5. Workers are using disinfectants to clean and were never trained or supplied gloves.
6. The employer has installed hand sanitizer dispensers, but they are usually empty.
7. Face coverings are required, but staff, clients and visitors do not wear them properly.
8. Employer XYZ has no written policy or procedures for dealing with COVID-19.
